Rav's Message

The Steipler Gaon (Birchas Peretz, Vayikra) notes that some mitzvos are voluntary, rather than obligatory, based on the generosity of spirit of the giver. Among these are the voluntary sacrifices and the donations for the Mishkan, which have no prescribed amounts, or shiurim, even for those who choose to do them. There are also obligatory mitzvos without shiurim, such as peah, bikkurim, re'ayon and gemilus chasadim. Here too, the shiurim are left up to the generosity of the giver. In this way, they are similar to terumah, where Biblically, chitab achas poteres es ha'kri – a single grain redeems the entire heap of produce. However, asks the Steipler, if these mitzvos are necessary for the proper service of Hashem, why were they or their shiurim not made obligatory after all? And if they are not necessary, why were they given at all?

The Steipler suggests that voluntary service for the sake of Heaven is a critical element in the acquisition of ahavas Hashem, in which we are all commanded. If commanded, it must be within our grasp, yet how exactly can we be obligated in matters of the heart? What should one of a more phlegmatic nature do, who is not able to rouse his heart to burn with ahavas Hashem? Mitzvos of the heart are simply not as accessible, nor as readily discharged, as external, active mitzvos.

The Steipler answers by way of a concept developed in chapter seven of the Mesilas Yesharim: just as the effects of one's inner flame extend outward, rousing one to zeal in one's actions, the effects of one's zealous actions can penetrate inward, rousing even a dull heart to fervor. This phenomenon is at work, too, with ahavas Hashem – just as inner love leads to voluntary service, where one forgoes his will in favor of the will of Hakadosh Baruch Hu, so too, voluntary, selfless acts in service of the Divine rouse one's heart to love and be bound up with Hashem. The more one invests in this voluntary outer service, the more one stokes the fire of his inner love of Hashem. As this is a tried and tested method, it emerges that one is always capable of ultimately fulfilling the mitzvos of the heart by engaging wholeheartedly in the voluntary mitzvos. And, in contradistinction to obligatory mitzvos, which all too often are performed in the manner of one paying off a debt, it is quite possible that the fact that these voluntary mitzvos are so superbly suited to rouse one's love of Hashem is their very raison d'être.

אגודת ישראל ברכה יעקב
Agudas Yisroel Bircas Yaakov

Tonight's dinner affords us the opportunity to thank HaKadosh Baruch Hu al kol tov she'gemalanu. We are privileged to honor Dr. and Mrs. Noam Kranz and Dr. and Mrs. Pesach Ledereich whose selfless devotion and graciousness, characterizes their avodas Hashem and their commitment bein adam l'chaveiro. In all aspects of life they represent true hisnadrus l'sheim shomayim. May they be zoche to abundant nachas from their wonderful children b'brius gufah u'nehorah m'alya.

President's Message

Welcome to our shul's twenty-fifth annual Dinner!

B"H our makom Torah grow and flourish under the leadership and guidance of our מרא דאתרא, HaRav Sacks, shlit"a, who leads, teaches, and inspires us throughout the year. Our shul has so many excellent opportunities for learning and growing in our עבודת ה', and we hope everyone can avail themselves of the various chaburos and shiurim that we have throughout the week. The N'shei has created many unique and enjoyable events that have promoted achdus, and we certainly encourage all the woman of our kehilla to participate.

This year, we are fortunate to honor Dr. and Mrs. Pesach Ledereich and Dr. and Mrs. Noam Kranz. Our honorees are models of dedication and mesiras nefesh for the kelal. They have significantly enhanced the ruchniyus and gashmiyus of our shul, and for that we are extremely grateful.

May הקב"ה grant them many more years of success in their efforts, along with much נחת from children and extended Agudah family.

With much hakaros hatov,
we would like to thank Harav Yonason Sacks, Shlit"z, and his wonderful Rebbetzin Manya Sacks

for all the tremendous chizuk, hadracha, advice and friendship.
The amount of time and energy that is invested in each and every member of truly grateful and proud to be part of our special kehilla.

May Hashem continue to grant you both much bracha, hatzlacha, good health and abundant nachas, and the koach to continue doing everything you do.

Liba and Noam-

We learn in Pirkei Avos that “Tiferes Bonim Avosam,” but you two are truly our tiferes. In the exemplary lives you lead, you demonstrate what true yiddishkeit is. Our entire family basks in this tiferes of chesed and emes. May you continue to create these giant footsteps for your children to follow in and continue to bring the entire family much nachas.

We love you.
